The Mayor's Corner

Lessons from a Child

As the guardians of the next generation, we often fail to see the lessons which can be learned by those we teach. Somewhere, somehow, through the process of our own growth, our own education, we lose the ability to see the world as we once understood it; beautiful, magical, exciting, unrestricted, filled with promise.

We move from the sandbox and playground where all are welcome and the air is filled with energy and laughter to isolation and classifying our former playmates. We abandon looking at each other and smiling, saying hello and wishing peaceful gestures and instead gaze past into a hopeless, isolated existence. We so often break all the rules we lecture our youth on; be polite, hold the door, say please and thank you, be grateful, don't judge, be giving, share and be kind. Instead, we justify our actions as part of a rite of adulthood and are then strangely dumbfounded by the reflection of the world that we have created.

Recently I was worshiping at my home parish St. Ignatius of Loyola (St. Martins, for those of us who are old school, like me). I arrived at the four o'clock mass, the one I have always preferred, mostly for convenience I must admit. That afternoon the church was packed and I found myself searching for a seat. After a cocktail of frustration and anxiety I finally found my home seat for the next hour. Seated in front of me was the poster child Irish boy, less concerned about the rituals to be performed or words about to be spoken, yet highly engaged with the toys which had been brought for him to ensure compliance and obedience throughout the service.

As the services began I found myself like the boy unfocused and uncaring of what was going on around me. All of us have had those times, when the stress of our existence seems more important than the fact that we exist. When the mundane blocks our ability to find or be guided towards peace.

I sat, unmoved and allowed my mind to wander and continue to become overwhelmed by the internal list of life tasks I was creating. Not a word, not a song, not a movement, seemed to be able to reach me that afternoon at St. Ignatius (St. Martins). Then the guidance came, the hope, the faith, and the reminder of what I have dedicated myself too. For that afternoon as I wandered out of my own mind and back to being part of the mass I was attending, I suddenly found myself the student of a young Irish boy.

As the congregation stood to re-commit themselves to one other, through the sign of peace, I felt my faith in humanity restored. The young boy quickly abandoned his toys, for a brief moment and stood, before working his way to each person who surrounded him and reciting to each "peace be with you". As he turned and faced me with a smile, his hand extended and the words "peace be with you" left his lips came the restoration of my own belief that we as humans can create a world where all are accepted, valued and cared for. Then with the innocence of a child he quickly returned to his toys.

I was reminded that afternoon that as an educator of 17 years, that this Principal, this Mayor still has a lot he can learn from his students and the youth of our society. Thank you young man for restoring my hope and faith when I most needed it.

A Message from Robin Comstock, Somersworth's Economic Development Manager

I am pleased to let you know that we are hosting our first Downtown Roundtable on: Thursday, May 10, 2018 at 8:30 am. The meeting will be held in the Somersworth City Council Chambers located on the second floor of City Hall. If you are interested in Downtown Somersworth please join us. Together we will carry Somersworth forward into the future in all the right ways.

Downtown Somersworth is the heartbeat of our community. It is a visible indicator of our priorities, values, and the life style we create - as well as evidence of the vision we have for our future for ourselves and our children. Downtown is also a place of reflection, it is where yesterday collides with today and tomorrow. It lives and breathes our heritage through architecture and foot paths of the past, while our recent Downtown revitalization are a contemporary expression of values for the future. As the core of our City, Downtown is where community comes together to be what and who it is.

Our Downtown is also an important center for employment. The "butcher, baker and candlestick maker" all create jobs and stimulate the economy through their work force, that is also the audience creating a demand as consumers for desirable products and services available in Downtown. 2018 brings with it a new focus to downtown as a center for employers. We hope to successfully attract new businesses to our downtown. Their employees would create demand for new retail, restaurants, and other services that employees want and need during the work day. And, the rise of the creative economy, the value of the arts, dining, and other unique experiences are the major tenants of a desirable and thriving downtown, that employers and employees help establish.

Please feel free to call me at 692-9516 or email me at rcomstock@somersworth.com

*Thank you
Robin*

Information from Fire Department
692-3457

1. Fire Permits need to be obtained from the Fire Department for any outside fires to burn brush. This is a State law that is enforced by local Fire Departments and the NH Division of Forests and Lands.
2. Spring clean-up is a good time to discard unwanted combustible materials that have accumulated in garages and basements over the winter months. Good housekeeping is a worthwhile fire prevention tool to limit the spread of fire should the unthinkable occur.
3. The annual Rochester-Somersworth Household Hazardous Materials Collection Day is Saturday May 5 at the Rochester Waste Management. Please note: an ID will be required to show you are a resident.
4. As grass and vegetation season begins, service your lawnmowers and power tools so they are in operable condition and not subject to causing fires. Remember that fueling equipment that has a hot motor with gasoline easily can cause a fire or explosion if you are not careful.

Repainting traffic markings is set to begin in mid May. Once all of the main corridors are swept, Highway crews will begin sweeping the neighborhood streets.

Road Resurfacing - Road Repairs

The Public Works Director is working with the City Manager on a recommended road paving plan for City Council approval. The City has approximately $1.2 million in available funding to move forward with the road resurfacing improvements.

Staff has also been working with NHDOT officials on their planned pavement resurfacing of W. High Street (Rte. 236) from Rte. 108 to Maple Street. Work is anticipated to occur during the coming months.

In the meantime, Highway crews will be completing pot hole repairs throughout the City.

Additional flushing will continue during regular business hours until all service areas of the City are completed. ### What Somersworth is Reading in May 2018

"The Museum of Extraordinary Things" by Alice Hoffman

Coralie is the daughter of the impresario behind The Museum of Extraordinary Things, a Coney Island boardwalk freak show that thrills the masses. An exceptional swimmer, Coralie appears as the Mermaid in her father's "museum," alongside performers like the Wolfman, and a one-hundred-year-old turtle. One night Coralie stumbles upon photographer Eddie Cohen, an immigrant who has run away from his Lower East Side Orthodox community and his job. When Eddie photographs the devastation following the infamous Triangle Shirtwaist Factory fire, he's embroiled in the suspicious mystery behind a young woman's disappearance. Pick up a copy of the book at the library. Join the group on May 23, at 7PM at the library for an informal and often lively discussion of each month's book. No registration and all are welcome

CEMETERY CORNER

Somersworth Cemetery Trustees cordially invite the community to the historic Furber Chapel located within Forest Glade Cemetery on Monday, May 28 from 1-3pm. The Furber Chapel was designed by Henry Vaughn and built in 1898. Please join us for a brief history as well as share any artifacts that you may have collected.

You will also be introduced to Zach Andrews, an Eagle Scout, who mapped the Forest Glade Cemetery to pin point the veterans' graves.

Upcoming Events Coming to the Chapel:

June 10 @ 2pm- Peter Michaud:
Overview of the Garden Cemetery Movement

July 29 @ 2pm- The Funky Divas Gospel

August 19 @ 2pm- Artful Noise String Quartet

Sept 9 @ 2pm- Liz Ahl: Author & Poet

Ready Set Grow!

7th grade Science teacher Chris Asbell will be ramping up his classroom hydroponics growing this year. Cafe Services donated this beauty of a system to Mr. Asbell and soon enough middle schoolers will get to eat what comes from it. More hyper-local foods coming to SMS!

The blank slates on the Idlehurst lawn won't look that way for long. The week before April break, several Idlehurst staff and students cleaned out the 13 garden beds, filled with soil and compost, and then seeded all but two with greens, herbs, pollinating flowers, and root vegetables.

The greens will be harvested and enjoyed by students this spring, and the roots they can look forward to tasting next fall!

Farm to School
Hydroponic System

Maple Wood now has two new gardens, thanks to Master Gardener volunteer Stacey Purslow who built them, and Somersworth Home Depot's Jason Sterry, who donated soil to fill them. The ADA bed built by Girl Scout Troop 12325 last August will be filled with cool season vegetables, and the two new beds will supplement 3rd-4th grade curriculum as a 3 Sisters Garden.

Thanks also to Jenna Tousignant for getting in her play clothes and helping prep the new gardens. If you want to help with the Idlehurst gardens, want to know more about 3 Sisters Gardening at Maple Wood, or have interest in Farm to School projects at Somersworth's other schools, contact Wendy at
